

The slip knot:

When it is necessary to add either a vertical or horizontal cord you must first anchor one side to the existing net. In order to do this, secure the cord with a slip-knot.

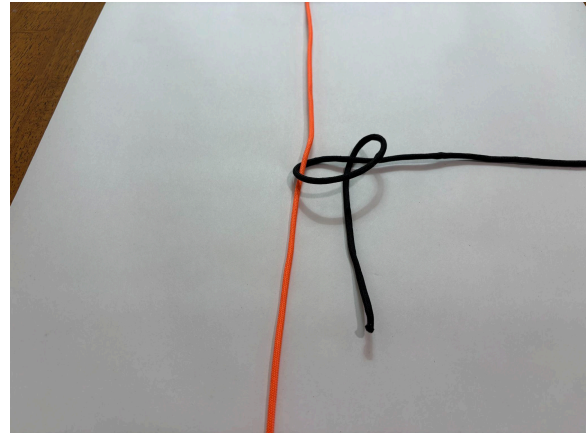

1. Bend a 180° turn around your desired anchor point.

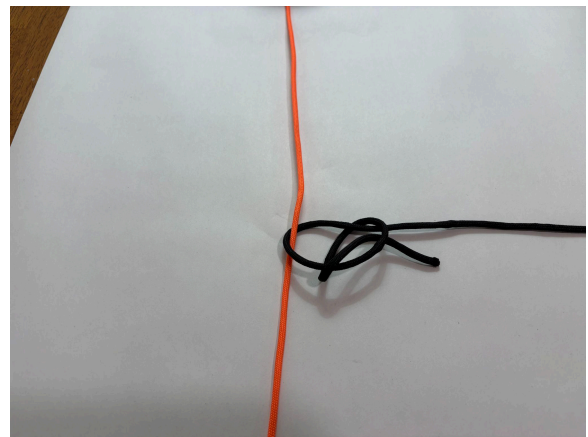

2. Take the short end and place it over the top of the long end.

3. Then continue with the short end below the 2 sections that make up the loop.

4. After passing below the loop, bring the short end up and pass it back through so as to parallel the long end of the cord.

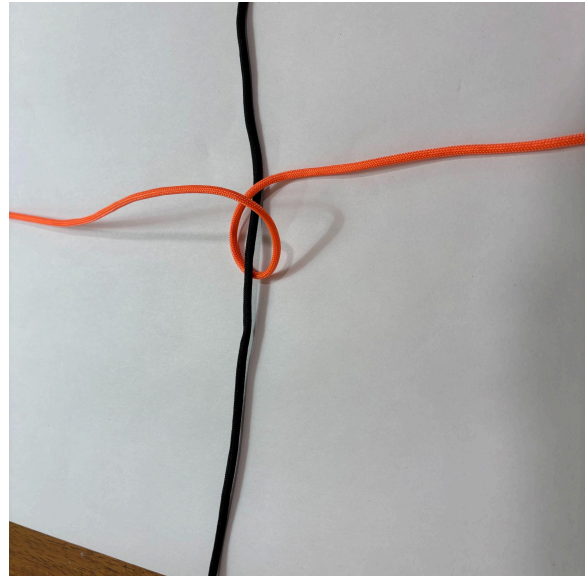

5. Now, cinch the knot tight

6. Finally, with one hand on the knot, the other on the long end of the cord, slide the knot tight against the anchor point.

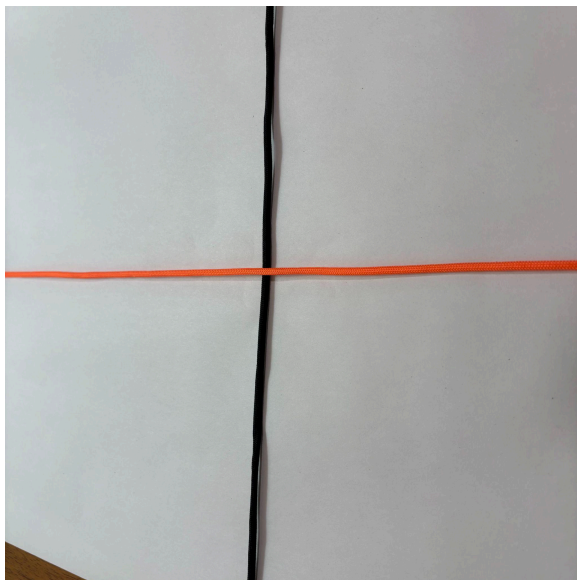

2. Create a loop with the orange cord, and pass the black cord through the loop, back to front.

The Net Knot:

1. Find two pieces of chord that cross at right angles.

3. Next, bring the black cord up and around the left side of the orange cord, behind all other cords before passing it through the orange loop.

4. Finally, tighten the knot being careful to have it aligned with the other knots in that row.
